Professor Yi Zhou from Texas A&M University, Professor Yingbin Liang from the Ohio State University, and Professor Heng Huang from the University of Maryland, College Park will submit letters of recommendation on my behalf.

I have obtained Ph.D. of Electrical and Computer Engineering (ECE) from University of Utah. Currently, I am a postdoctoral researcher at the computer science department of the University of Maryland, College Park, under the supervision of Professor Heng Huang. My research focuses on designing large-scale machine learning models and algorithms with theoretical foundation to address multiple issues including robustness, alignment, generalization and safe multi-agent decision making in the context of reinforcement learning, large language model, artificial general intelligence (AGI), and large-scale optimization.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ziyi Chen
